The Canadian Startup Visa Program

Canada has a range of business immigration programs designed to help foreign entrepreneurs immigrate and succeed in business in Canada. It has become very popular because it opens the door to any person with an innovative idea that can be turned into a business with a global reach. The basic requirements are as follows:

Qualifications of Applicants

Applicants can come from any sector as long as they have an innovative idea that can be developed into a viable product or service with global reach. All applicants must now be able to demonstrate that they have the training and experience to carry out the intended work in Canada and they intend to stay in Canada and develop their business for the long term.

Language Abilities

All applicants must prove that they meet the language requirement of CLB 5 in all abilities, by way of an IELTS or CELPIP test.

Net Worth Requirement

All applicants must be able to prove they have adequate funds to commence business activities for the startup and support themselves and their families until they have revenues.

Significant Benefit

All applications must demonstrate significant economic benefits such as: job creation, product or service innovation, hiring and training opportunities for Canadians, or a boost to remote communities.

Application Timing

Once the letter of support is issued by the incubator (designated entity), applicants are required to apply for permanent residence (PR). Applicants can apply for work permits once the file number is received. Open work permits can then be issued for up to three years.

“Our team has decades of experience in government, small business setup, immigration, finance, and software development.”
